

Travelport and Kenya Airways extend multi-year agreement

13 December 2015

Travelport and Kenya Airways recently announced the extension of their multi-year, full content agreement.

The agreement offers Travelport-connected agents worldwide continued access to search, compare and book Kenya Airways' full range of fares and optional services via Travelport's Travel Commerce Platform. The agreement also follows the announcement earlier this year that Kenya Airways signed-up to Travelport's Rich Content & Branding programme.

Hellen Mwariri, head of revenue management, Kenya Airways said: "It is imperative we leverage the industry's cutting edge technology. The renewal of this agreement with Travelport follows our sign up to Rich Content & Branding earlier this year. We look forward to continue to develop our business through our partnership with Travelport."

Adding further Will Owen-Hughes, senior director air commerce, Africa and Middle East, Travelport said: "Our platform and merchandising solutions are about empowering airline partners to create choices for their customers."