

COVID-19: Travelport Launches Safety Tracker for Agents

Travelport is making it easier for travel agents to keep on top of the health and safety measures being introduced by airlines with new tracker

2 August 2020

Travelport have launched a new safety tracker for travel agents to help them to keep on top of the health measures being adopted by more than 80 airlines.

The technology will collate a number of key measures put in place by carriers including mandated use of face masks, socially distanced seating and temperature checks before boarding.

It will also detail issues such as improved air filtration, enhanced cleaning programs, reduced onboard food and beverage services, and mandated traveller health certifications.
